Notice Concerning Establishment of Korea Branch Office

A&T hereby announces the establishment of a new branch office in Korea.

1. Purpose of establishing a branch office

A&T has developed business in Korea offering products centered around Laboratory Automation Systems (hereinafter, “LAS”) in major hospitals and facilities. Sales and engineering staff have been deployed to LAS installation sites, however, with the increase in number of LAS operating facilities, the need to improve excellence in locally provided services has become evident. Intending to further expand business and enhance support in Korea, A&T establishes a Korea Branch Office. A&T will remain committed to further enhancing its offerings and improving customer satisfaction.
